

Key Terms and Conditions for Applying to the Mohammed Bin Rashid Arabic Language Award

Reference Image: Arabic award

The Mohammed Bin Rashid Arabic Language Award is one of the elite honors intended to support the use of Arabic language in many spheres. To ensure that the award remains prestigious and a fair competition, there are specific conditions on which participants have to send their entries in:

The work must not have won any other awards.

- Exclusive Submission: The initiative cannot have taken part in other awards in the same year.

- Non-Academic Projects: The submissions must not be university projects for obtaining academic degrees.
- Adherence to the Arabic language award criteria: All submissions must strictly meet the detailed criteria set forth by the award to ensure fairness and take care of cultural and scientific value of the award.

Such conditions serve to make the award valid while guiding participants to submit innovative and unique contributions for the Arabic language. Handling the application process therefore, maintains high standards and makes competition fair between all participants.